

Education Recruitment

Coyle have been working in the education sector for many years. We have considerable experience in placing temporary, contract and permanent staff in teaching jobs in the UK.

We have a dedicated team of consultants who work closely with our clients to provide an exceptional service. Our experience in the education sector means we understand the issues faced by schools, and we can help to find the best teachers, whenever and wherever they are needed.

At Coyle, our experienced consultants work closely with our clients to understand the unique challenges they face. This allows us to offer a tailored service designed to meet specific requirements.

We help schools get access to top-quality teachers, whether they are needed on a temporary, contract or permanent basis.

We carry out all the relevant checks for our teachers including 10 years of full employment history, up to date training certificates, DBS and Prohibition checks.
