

Rail Professionals Recruitment

Coyle Rail has a division dedicated solely to the supply of rail professional and technical staff to the Civil and Construction side of the railway industry, nationwide.

We have a large database of candidates with a wealth of experience, working on London Underground and Network Rail infrastructure.

We provide experienced staff for short and long term contracts, and are also able to fully manage recruitment to fill permanent vacancies.

We believe it's our responsibility as an employer to encourage our candidates to develop their skills and progress in their careers. We make it a priority to help trainees and apprentices break into the sector.
